

24 crazy, messy, awesome back to school moments that every mom should capture this year:

If you share these to social media, tag them with #ThisIsGOOD

- School supply shopping: How many stores did you need this year??
- Back to school clothing shopping: where did you go?
- New kicks: what shoes will they wear this fall?
- Haircut Day: Show the new style
- Delivering school supplies at school orientation
- Your kids organizing their supplies before going back
- Their reaction to teacher assignment day
- The piles of paperwork you need to fill out
- The bed head hair when they wake up on the first day
- The piles of laundry trying to find the "just right" outfit
- The stacks of cereal bowls and orange juice cups on the counter on the first day
- The lunch boxes all lined up to be filled.
- The piles of water bottles you need to hydrate your kids for a year.
- The bus stop gang who sprouted over summer.
- The nervous faces before you head out the door.
- Your kids from behind as they head out to the world.
- The look on their face when they finally get home at the end of the day.
- Your kids passed out on the couch from sheer first day exhaustion.
- The piles of shoes at the front door that show all the activities they are in.
- The overflowing backpack filled with books and assignments.
- The joyous reunion between your kids and their pets after the long day.
- The dinner rush crazy kitchen counters: homework and dinner come together in one spot.
- The quiet moments at the end of that long day.
- Tucking them into bed while they are still young enough to love having you do it.